DIRECTORY OF FARMER COOPERATIVES

Abstract

Directory of Farmer Cooperatives

Andrew A. Jermolowicz

Agricultural Economist

Tracey L. Kennedy

Agricultural Economist

The directory contains a State-by-State listing of more than 300 farmer-owned marketing, farm supply, service, and bargaining cooperatives. A cooperative must have had sales of $30 million or more in 1986 to be included in the directory. For States where no cooperative had $30 million in sales, the five largest were chosen. Additional cooperatives were included based upon uniqueness of products handled or services provided.

Key words: Cooperatives, marketing, farm supply, service, bargaining, directory

ACS Service Report 22

January 1989

Preface

The Directory of Farmer Cooperatives was first published in 1968 by the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives. The seventh edition is the first to be published by the Agricultural Cooperative Service.

The directory contains a State-by-State listing of more than 300 farmer-owned marketing, farm supply, service, and bargaining cooperatives. To be included in the directory, a cooperative must have had sales of $30 million or more in 1986. For States where no cooperative had $30 million in sales, the five largest cooperatives were chosen. Additional cooperatives were included based upon uniqueness of products handled or services provided. Address, telephone, name of chief executive officer, and types of products handled are listed.

Cooperatives are designated according to type, in most cases marketing, farm supply, service, bargaining, or a combination. Marketing cooperatives are defined as those that assemble and market commodities produced by their farmer-members. Marketing cooperatives may or may not engage in processing. Farm supply cooperatives purchase and/or manufacture farm inputs for distribution to farmer-members. Service cooperatives perform a range of farm production and management-related services such as ginning, grove care, agronomic services, financial and management consulting, artificial insemination and herd improvement, transportation, storage, etc. Bargaining cooperatives negotiate price, quality, and delivery terms with buyers on behalf of their members. They typically do not take title to commodities.

Also included in the directory are an alphabetical index of cooperatives and a listing of State associations of cooperatives.

We urge readers to advise us of changes as they occur so that the directory may be updated in a timely manner.

Agricultural Cooperative Service (ACS) provides research, management, and educational assistance to cooperatives to strengthen the economic position of farmers and other rural residents. It works directly with cooperative leaders and Federal and State agencies to improve organization, leadership, and operation of cooperatives and to give guidance to further development.

The agency (1) helps farmers and other rural residents develop cooperatives to obtain supplies and services at lower cost and to get better prices for products they sell; (2) advises rural residents on developing existing resources through cooperative action to enhance rural living; (3) helps cooperatives improve services and operating efficiency; (4) informs members, directors, employees, and the public on how cooperatives work and benefit their members and their communities; and (5) encourages international cooperative programs.

ACS publishes research and educational materials and issues Farmer Cooperatives magazine. All programs and activities are conducted on a nondiscriminatory basis, without regard to race, creed, color, sex, age, marital status, handicap, or national origin.
